

2c*LAST EDITION*2c

HOYNE NAMES ARTIE QUINN FIXER—“WOMEN OF STREET” STORM CHURCH

THE DAY BOOK

An Adless Newspaper, Daily Except Sunday

VOL. 6, NO. 101

Chicago, Friday, January 26, 1917

398

ARMOUR INTERVIEWS DAY BOOK REPORTER

Chicago's Prize Pork Packer Gets Chatty in Courtroom
—Thinks The Day Book Thinks He Has Too Much Money—A Personal Sketch of the Richest Man in Town.

BY ALLEN W. ELLIOTT

“What kind of a guy is J. Ogden Armour?”

Probably two million Chicagoans would like to know the answer to this question. Besides being the world's champion hog butcher, Armour is also Chicago's greatest mystery.

People of this city never get a personal glimpse of this man whose actions affect their lives more than those of any other man in the world. The newspapers are afraid to talk about him; his empire of dollars overshadows the press with the menace of ruin for any writer or publisher who offends him.

Common folk know him only as a name that is flashed at them on bill-